3. Costs and Charges

Types of Costs and Charges that may incur:

When trading the following costs and charges are factored in the profitability of each trading account:

- (a) Spread is the difference between Ask and Bid of an underlying asset in a CFD at that same moment. The Company offers variable spreads that will vary throughout the day, depending on market volatility and available liquidity. They represent the best bid and ask prices we obtain from our liquidity providers, underlying regulated markets or other data feed providers without the addition of mark-ups.
- (b) Overnight Rollover/Swap is the interest added or deducted for holding a position open overnight. Positions can be held open to the next day or for a longer time and will either be credited or debited with a swap fee. The Company calculates swap once for each day of the week that a position is rolled over, while on Friday night swap is charged 3 times per position for the weekend. The Swap process starts at the end of the day, 23:50 GMT +2. The overnight rollover/swap calculation : $\text{Swap} = (\text{Volume Traded} / \text{Minimum Lot size}) * \text{Swap Rate} * \text{Number of Nights}$.
- (c) Commission is the fee charged when opening a trading position. The Commission is automatically calculated and deducted directly from the Client’s balance.
- (d) Inactivity Fee is the fee charged when there is no trading, no open positions, no withdrawals or deposits within the period of three (3) months where there is a positive balance to the trading account. The Company shall charge any account that meets the above criteria an one-off account maintenance fee of 50 units or less of the trading account currency.
